John Oliver

02.07.1946 - 23.09.2010

I've written notes to you for over 40 years, but this one, hubby dear, is full of tears...

Hi Darl,
Today, a very sad, lonely year.
It's still hard to believe that you're not here.
Remembering you is easy, I do it everyday.
Missing you is heartache, that never goes away.
Although you're not here with me
We're truly not apart
Until that final breath I take
You'll be living in my heart
Love Bettine (Tina)

Dad : Grandpa,
No more with us our lives to share.
In our hearts you are always there.
Sadly missed, lovingly remembered.
Jo-Anne & Andrew, Julie & Paul
and the "boys" - Jack & Troy

In memoriam

WILLIAMS, Kumunjai. Gone is the voice I loved to hear, gone is the face I loved so dear, tear in my eye I can wipe away, but the ache on my heart will always stay. Love Sheila and all your family.

Palmerston City Centre Master Plan

Council has now placed the Palmerston City Centre 2030 Master Plan on public exhibition, via their website, for your comment until Thursday 20 October 2011.

The master plan provides a clear vision for Palmerston for the first time - an important milestone for the Northern Territory's fastest growing city and one of the fastest growing cities in Australia.

The new master plan will guide development in Palmerston's CBD over the next 15 years, creating a unique identity for the city.

The plan sets out a vision for Palmerston as a connected city centre, bringing together a diverse mix of spaces to create residential, retail and entertainment precincts.

To see what the new Palmerston City Centre would look like under the new master plan - compared to the city today please visit www.palmerston.nt.gov.au

We are seeking your comments to help us refine the master plan ahead of its implementation and inclusion in the Northern Territory Planning Scheme.

Your will also find at our website a copy of the master plan and an opportunity to make comment.

We encourage residents and business to submit your comments on the master plan, so together we can plan for a better city - a clean, green, serene and beautiful Palmerston of which we can all be proud.
