Students pay tribute to valuable mentors

Sadadeen Primary School teacher Sara North and student Portia Strawbridge enjoy a book together.

Sadadeen Primary School prefers to refer to the day as World Educators Day as it celebrates the contribution made by both teachers and support staff as everyone within the school has an important valued role to play.

Sadadeen has 35 staff who celebrate the day yesterday with a special morning tea and pack of ‘goodies’ put together by the executive and children. In addition to personalised thank you cards, staff received a range of food and novelty items that send a message about how much they are valued and appreciated for doing an important job and making a difference in the lives of the children at Sadadeen.

Brailting Primary School recognises the contributions of all staff to the growth of all of those who come to this school. The school is continually seeking to improve its practices and what it is that it offers students by using evidence to inform change to better support individuals and groups.

It recognises the extra efforts that staff put in above and beyond that expected for school educators.

It is these extra efforts that allow Brailting’s students to experience peak events such as the Circus spectacular at Araluen, Stephanie Alexander’s Kitchen Garden and the Family Fun Day.

Gillen Primary School celebrates its teaching staff today for World Teachers’ Day.

The 14 classroom, specialist and administrative teachers will be treated to a catered and extended morning tea in appreciation for their commitment to delivering exceptional teaching and learning for every child at the school.

A special group of musical students has written songs to perform at the assembly to publicly say “thank you” to the teachers on behalf of all of the school’s students.

Araluen Christian College
121 - e: admin.acc@ntschools.net

In 2014 St Philip’s College celebrates 25 years of providing extensive educational opportunities to rural and remote Australian students. The College Board would like to thank all past and present teachers & staff for their caring, dedication, professionalism, hard work and commitment to life-long learning.

The School Council and parent community of Sadadeen Primary School wish to acknowledge the hard work and dedication of all the teachers and support staff at Sadadeen Primary, Nathalie Gorey, Ida Standley and the School Outreach Program. Your dedication to our students is outstanding and appreciated.

Top mark

SCHOOL principals, assistant principals, leadership teams, teachers and school staff have been praised for their unwavering commitment to the education of students across the Territory by the Association of Northern Territory Educational Leaders. “Our members and colleagues have continued to demonstrate passion as educators throughout a very busy time of significant change and reflection in education systems.” ANTSEL, chairman president Pam Erfurt said.

“We would like to congratulate all teachers on World Teachers Day. We acknowledge and thank teachers for their tireless efforts and dedication in achieving success for all Territory kids in public schools.

The AEU NT would like to congratulate all teachers on World Teachers Day.

We acknowledge and thank teachers for their tireless efforts and dedication in achieving success for all Territory kids in public schools.

We Celebrate & THANK YOU

The AEU NT would like to congratulate all teachers on World Teachers Day.

We acknowledge and thank teachers for their tireless efforts and dedication in achieving success for all Territory kids in public schools.

The School Council and parent community of Sadadeen Primary School wish to acknowledge the hard work and dedication of all the teachers and support staff at Sadadeen Primary, Nathalie Gorey, Ida Standley and the School Outreach Program. Your dedication to our students is outstanding and appreciated.

The Acacia Hill School celebrates its teaching staff today for World Teachers’ Day.

The 14 classroom, specialist and administrative teachers will be treated to a catered and extended morning tea in appreciation for their commitment to delivering exceptional teaching and learning for every child at the school.

A special group of musical students has written songs to perform at the assembly to publicly say “thank you” to the teachers on behalf of all of the school’s students.

Araluen Christian College
121 - e: admin.acc@ntschools.net

In 2014 St Philip’s College celebrates 25 years of providing extensive educational opportunities to rural and remote Australian students. The College Board would like to thank all past and present teachers & staff for their caring, dedication, professionalism, hard work and commitment to life-long learning.

The School Council and parent community of Sadadeen Primary School wish to acknowledge the hard work and dedication of all the teachers and support staff at Sadadeen Primary, Nathalie Gorey, Ida Standley and the School Outreach Program. Your dedication to our students is outstanding and appreciated.