Spider-Man: Homecoming

Saturday, Imparja, 8.40pm, M (2017)

A marriage between Sony and Marvel Studios, Spider-Man: Homecoming marks the return of the lycra-clad superhero to the Marvel universe. Starring baby-faced Tom Holland (pictured) as the titular hero, we jump in after the events of Captain America: Civil War as Peter juggles schoolwork, friends and teenage issues while crafting his crime-fighting skills. Under the eyes of Happy Hogan (Jon Favreau), Peter has a chance to prove himself when villain Vulture (Michael Keaton) arrives. Funny and lighthearted, Homecoming is a breezy, refreshing return to fun.

The Amazing Spider-Man 2

Sunday, 7Mate, 6pm, PG (2014)

In director Marc Webb's second instalment in the Spider-Man franchise, the special effects have grown bigger and better than ever. Peter Parker aka Spider-Man (Andrew Garfield, pictured with Emma Stone) faces his toughest battle yet, with two potent enemies out to get him. Sent from experimental science company Oscorp, Jamie Foxx plays Electro, a glowing blue psychotic bad guy who gets his powers by feeding on electricity, while Dane DeHaan (The Place Beyond The Pines) is an old school friend of Parker's who turns up baying for the superhero's blood, so he too can attain immortality. Meanwhile, Parker's relationship with Gwen Stacy (Emma Stone in the stand-out role) is on the skids, creating an angsty side story to the overflowing action. Webb shows little restraint with this spectacle, but his trademark humour is on target.

Gladiator

Sunday, 9Go!, 8.45pm, M (2000)

Director Ridley Scott (The Martian) revitalises the sword and sandal epic, employing cutting-edge computer-generated images to recreate ancient Rome to stunning effect. Russell Crowe is magnificent as Maximus, the Roman general who is demoted to slave when he falls out of favour with Commodus (Joaquin Phoenix), who seizes power by murdering his emperor father (Richard Harris). Maximus finds himself as part of the gladiator circus - weapon-wielding brutes battle to the death before a stadium audience - and takes the opportunity to avenge tragic personal loss by climbing the ranks to become the Colosseum's star attraction. Bloody, muscular and exciting.
